

ABSTRACT

It is an object of the present invention to provide a novel ester compound and the use thereof as a sex attractant. The present invention provides a compound represented by formula (I) described below, and a sex attractant comprising, as an active ingredient, the above compound:

